HARDENERS & SOLVENTS

With the warmer weather here, making the correct solvent temperature choice is important. It is also critical to watch humidity level, metal temperature and booth air flow when making your choice. When using waterborne paint make sure to always check the viscosity of the paint before spraying.

Today's successful shops need to get the idea out of their head that training is a cost. It's an investment that usually has a very short term return. After the return, it's pure profit.

It can't be a coincidence that the busiest, most profitable shops are the first to sign up for most any training class we offer.

You can't afford NOT to take advantage of these tools and training opportunities.
