Is the Data on your Office Computers Backed Up?

Do you have the data on your computers backed up should a disaster occur? If a fire, tornado, flood, theft, or hard drive crash happens, is your computer data backed up and ready to reinstall on a new system so you can keep your business running? The Cryptovirus is once again rearing its ugly head and wreaking havoc! If triggered, this powerful virus locks the files on a workstation and renders them unusable. Without a system backup, you will lose everything. Protect your data and be prepared. Utilizing an automated backup process such as Carbonite is a wise investment.
