SATAjet 5000B New, versatile high performance spray gun

SATA adds another innovative high performance spray gun to its product range. The all new SATAjet 5000 B.

The development process focused on creating a much more versatile spray gun in regard to inlet pressure, application distance and further improved adaptability to the specific requirements of the different paint systems available.

One remarkable enhancement concerns the ergonomics of the SATAjet 5000 B. The gun handle of the digital version, for instance, is identical in size and shape to the standard spray gun. As a result, the digital spray gun also perfectly fits into smaller hands. The air micrometer to adjust the spray gun inlet pressure is now considerably larger and much easier to regulate. Switching from round to flat only takes a half turn on the spray fan control which allows even better adjustment than before. The SATAjet 5000 B is finished with a satin-gloss pearlchrome™ surface which is corrosion-resistant and easy to clean, as are the material passages, the quick change cup connection QCC and the sturdy QC air cap threads. Owing to the superb quality of the seals and other components, this spray gun is very low-maintenance. The self-adjusting paint needle seal, a proven feature over many years, is additionally protected by the trigger with paint needle guard for an extended lifetime. Other time-tested features are the sturdy brass air cap and the stainless steel paint needles and fluid tips.
